to all your equipment.

Hungry for power

By providing a stable output, your computer will not suffer from voltage fluctuations from the power grid or power surges. Both your hardware and data are safe from damage when using the Hexxon UPS. The Automatic Voltage Regulation (AVR) function automatically corrects too high or too low voltages, so that your gear won't get damaged. This, together with the surge protection guarantees the safety of your PC set-up.

Protect your equipment

The Hexxon has 2 protected outputs. So easily connect your PC at home or at the office. The UPS is easily set up and will give you clear optical and acoustic indicators for alerts when necessary. In this way, you are sure your hard work is safe during a power outage.
